Programme Objective

All the presenters are renowned experts from across the world. Each presentation would specifically include practical case studies and experiences, in order to give a proper understanding to the delegates. Each session would have 4-5 presentations, followed by a Discussion Time, inviting delegates to ask specific questions of interest to them. The Case Study session would have actual end-user industries from different segments sharing their experience in solving their water and wastewater problems. The objective is to have a very interactive and discussion-based programme so that the attend delegates can gain maximum value. They should leave the programme with a better understanding of the latest opportunities in the water and wastewater sector.
