The EurEau event will gather policymakers, water industry leaders and representatives of all types of water users – from energy producers to farmers to households. The priority action points identified by the robust event discussion will further the mainstreaming of water policy.

Our 40th anniversary Water Matters conference is a wake-up call. Water is vital to Europe’s economy, ecology and well-being. We will examine the food-water-energy nexus in the context of water scarcity, demographic and climate change. We will also evaluate the pressures on the water system and identify resource-efficient solutions to multifaceted problems.
