The closing ceremony of the International Year of Water Cooperation took place in Mexico on 5 and 6 December 2013. It was organized by UNESCO on behalf of UNWater, with support from the Government of Mexico through the National Water Commission (CONAGUA). During the first day devoted to lessons learned from the International Year, Mr. Jean- François Donzier, Secretary of the International Network of Basin Organizations, made an introductory speech on River Basin Management worldwide, in the high-level session on "cooperation, a key to peaceful water sharing". The second day, entitled "Beyond the International Year : recommendations for action" was an opportunity to specify the action to take for the future.
