Webinar "Add some innovation in your public procurement" (water sector)

In the framework of the Water PiPP project, the International Office for Water is organising a webinar on innovation and public procurement in the water sector on Tuesday 14th June 2016 from 10:00 to 11:30.

The aim is to encourage the stakeholders of the water sector of the project to explore public procurement possibilities for innovation through pre-commercial procurement and procurement procedures.

Participation to this webinar is free of charge and open to water-related public services professionals upon request for application.
